

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I.

	PAGE
Timber: Quality and Character.—Hard and Soft Woods.—Seasoning; Sawing and Seasoning.—Convenient Tools.—Store Room.—Cleanliness.—A well-appointed Carriage Shop.—Power vs. Hand Work.—Plan of a Wheelwright's Shop.—Large vs. Small Shops.—Advice to Small Carriage Makers.—Carriage Woodwork Tools.—Poorly made Tools.—The Saw: its Uses and Management.—Hand Wood Turning.—A handy Bench.—Wheelwright's Bench.—Horse or Bench for driving Spokes.—Appliances for Wheelwrights.—Spoke Tenoning and Boring Machine.—Tool for springing Spokes.—Handy Tool for a Wheelwright.—Making a Spoke Tenoning Machine.—A Spoke driving Appliance.—Making a Wheel Bench	9

CHAPTER II.

Practical hints on Repairing Wheels.—Making Wheels.—About Wheeling.—Wagon Wheels.—To make a good Wheel.—Points on Wheel Making.—Wheel Making in Country Shops.—Wheels for Farm Wagons.—Driving wagon Spokes.—Putting Rims on Wheels.—Driving heavy Spokes.—Something about Spokes.—Dishing of Wheels.—Taking Dish out of Wheels.—Sawing Felloe Joints —Straightening Felloes.—Spoking old Hubs.—Repairing Wheels.—To tighten Boxes.—Removing Boxes.—Setting Boxes.—Making a Spoke Tenoning Machine.—Tool for springing Spokes.—Hub Borer.—Getting a plumb Spoke.—Adjustable Rim Clamp.—Rimming Wheels.—Do Mortises in an Unseasoned Hub Shrink or Enlarge?—Locust for Carriage Parts.—Wheels that are Dished Back.—Taking the Dish out.—Dished Wheels.—Shrinkage of Hub Mortises	92
----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	----

CHAPTER III.

	PAGE
Mortises and Laps.—Carriage Parts.—Front Beds.—Shortening of Bent Beds.—Bevel on Express Shafts.—Seat Corners.—Laying off Corners. —Arrangements for a Bakery wagon.—To make a wagon Axle.—Put- ting in Axles.—Getting a plumb Spoke.—Putting in wooden Axletrees. —Making a wagon run well - - - - -	184